Classics of the future

Designer Alex Griffin noticed a gap in the market for unique and distinctive goods. He put a specialist team together to establish Bouf, which specialises in pioneering homeware and gifts. Here's a sample of the more innovative products on offer. For more information visit www.bouf.com or call 0870 803 4883.

● If you're after a unique sleep experience, try this LOMME – Light Over Matter Mind Evolution – is a sleep system and rejuvenation environment. It was created after two years' research into sleep habits, problems and therapies. Using light, sound and massage therapies, Lomme uses an environment that enhances all the senses. The user can choose the strength and colour of the internal light with a colour wheel. The bed limits external noise and an iPod has been installed. The mattress is available with an inbuilt massage system with a choice of options. There is even a system which blocks electromagnetic waves and radiation, while all of the Lomme functions are controlled by an iPhone. Intrigued? It will set you back £33,000!
